The Australian Society for Medical Imaging and Radiation Therapy (ASMIRT) is pleased to announce that Bronwyn Hilder has been selected by the Board of Directors to assume the role of President, effective March 18, 2018.

“ASMIRT’s mission is to empower medical radiation practitioners for the health of all Australians. In my time serving on the Board of Directors, I have seen how much time and energy is devoted to ensuring the ongoing success of the Society by the Secretariat, the panel members, the branches and the members of the organisation. I am grateful to the Board of Directors for placing their confidence in me to lead the Society.” said Bronwyn Hilder.

“I’d like to thank Patrick Eastgate for his service as President since 2016, and I am keen to continue with the momentum for change that has been evident during his stewardship.”

“During my term as President, I will strive to represent the members and the medical radiation profession as the Society continues to advocate for patients and to influence local, national and international policy and practice. As individual practitioners, our influence may be small but as a collective we can have an impact so that our goals can be achieved and we can serve our patients well into the future.” said Hilder.
